

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Author	xiii
Introduction to the Third Edition	xv

Section I Getting Started

1 First Catch Your Rabbit: Creating Concepts and Characters	3
Logging In: Finding an Idea	3
Walking the Story Line	5
Story Outline and Character Explorations	6
Shopping for Story: Creating Outlines	6
Where and When Does This Story Take Place?	7
Getting the Treatment and Beginning Character Development	8
A Story Should Always be Told by the Most Interesting Characters	10
Nothing Is Normal: Researching Action	11
2 How Storyboard Took Over the Movies (and Television)	15
Live-Action and Animation Boards	15
The Hybrid Film	18
Graphic Novels: Shaping the Frame	21
Screen Ratios: The Fixed Frame	23
Television Boards and Feature Boards	24
Commercial Storyboard: An Interview with Elliot Cowan	28
Who Loves Short Shorts?	30
3 Putting Yourself into Your Work	31
Symbolic Animals and Objects	34

See You Later, Allegory.....	39
The Newsmen's Story Guide: Who, What, When, Where, and Why	39
4 Situation and Character Driven Stories	45
Linear Stories	46
Character Arcs and Story Subtexts.....	46
Nonlinear Stories	47
Formulaic Characters and Stories	48
“What If?” The Possible Story	50
Defining Conflict and Story Arcs	51
Stealing the Show	53
Parodies and Pastiches	53
Beginning at the Ending: The Tex Avery “Twist”	54
5 Treat 'em Rough: Beginning Character Design and Setting Story Rules	57
The Line of Beauty and the Line of Action.....	62
Establishing Story Rules.....	65
6 Appealing or Appalling? Designing Characters with Personality	69
Form Follows Function	69
Size Matters: The Importance of Scale.....	71
Reading the Design: Silhouette Value.....	71
Scale and Storytelling	75
Getting Into Character	79
Foundation Shapes and Their Meaning.....	82
Evolving the Characters	87
The Shape of Things.....	89
7 Working with Multiple Characters	95
Triple Trouble: Contrasts in Design.....	95
Tying It Down: Standardizing Your Design.....	100
My Good Side: Choosing the Best Angles.....	108
Getting Pushy with Prop Designs	111
Designing Locations with the Characters.....	112
8 Beauties and Beasts: Creating Character Contrasts in Design	117
I Feel Pretty! Changing Standards of Beauty.....	118
A Face That Only a Mother Could Love?	121
Gods and Monsters: Contrasting Appearance and Personality	122
9 Color and Design in Storytelling	127
Location, Location, Location.....	128
Establishing Shots	129
Colorful Characters	132
Symbolic Colors.....	136
I Can See Clearly Now: Reference and Atmosphere.....	141

Section II Technique

10	Starting Story Sketch: Thumbnails and Tonal Sketches	149
	All Thumbs: Quick Sketches and Thumbnails.....	150
	How and Why Do You Thumbnail a Sequence for a Storyboard?.....	150
	Reality Is Overrated.....	152
	Graphic Images Ahead!.....	157
	The Drama in the Drawings: Using Contrast to Direct the Eye.....	163
	The Best-Laid Floor Plans.....	166
11	Boarding Time: Getting with the Story Beat	171
	Working to the Beat.....	172
	Sizing Things Up.....	176
	Beat Board to Storyboard.....	178
	How Many Panels in a Story Beat?.....	181
12	Roughing It: Basic Staging	183
	Made You Look: Directing the Eye.....	183
	I'm Ready for My Close-Up: Storyboard Cinematography.....	189
	Structure: The Mind's Eye.....	191
	The Wonderful World of Color Accents and Color Keys.....	198
13	The Big Picture: Creating Story Sequences	203
	Types of Sequences.....	203
	Story and Character Arcs in Longer Films.....	206
	Sequential Construction in Dickens' A CHRISTMAS CAROL.....	206
	Act One.....	207
	Act Two.....	207
	Act Three (Epilogue).....	207
	Subplots and Secondary Storylines.....	208
	Pacing the Film.....	211
	Acting Out: Sequential Storyboards.....	211
	A-B-Sequences: Prioritizing the Action.....	212
	Naming Names.....	214
14	Patterns in Time: Pacing Action on Rough Boards	215
	How Many Panels Do You Use in a Storyboard?.....	226
	Yakkity Yak: Dialogue on the Storyboard.....	231
	Rights and Wrongs: Using Transitions.....	235
	Climactic Events.....	244
15	Present Tense: Creating a Performance on Storyboards	247
	Working with Music.....	251
	Visualizing the Script.....	252
16	Color My World: Art Direction and Storytelling	257
	Fishing for Complements.....	258
	Saturation Point: Colors and Tonal Values.....	260
	Writing the Color: Color Scripts.....	266
	O Tempora, O More or Less.....	272

Section III Presentation

17 Show and Tell: Presenting Your Storyboards	277
Pitch Etiquette and Procedure	278
Digital Pitches.....	287
The More Things Change: The Turnover Session.....	287
18 Talking Pictures: Assembling a Leica, Story Reel, or Animatic with a Scratch Track	291
This Is Only a Test: Refining Story Reels.....	299
19 Team Storyboard: Working on Group Projects	301
Two People, Three Arguments	301
Story Team Etiquette	303
Making, but Not Taking, Things Personally.....	304
Switching Story Gears	306
20 Maquette Simple: Modeling Characters in Three Dimensions	307
21 Build a Better Mouse: Creating Final Model Sheets	315
Keep It Clean.....	315
22 Screen and Screen Again: Preparing for Production	323
Appendix 1: Discussion with A. Kendall O'Connor	327
Appendix 2: Caricature Discussion with T. Hee	333
Appendix 3: Interview with Ken Anderson	341
Animation Preproduction Glossary	349
Index	357