

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section	Page
I.—INTRODUCTION - - - - -	5
II.—THE RANGE OF OPTICAL AIDS - - - - -	7
The standard lantern. The sub-standard lantern and film-strip projector. 16 mm. cine film apparatus. Episcopes. Epidiascopes. Probable trends in optical aids. Projection in the hall. Special classroom projection. General classroom projection. Interavailability of apparatus. Types of films.
III.—EQUIPMENT - - - - -	22
Projectors and screens—factors in selection. The technique of classroom projection. Projector and screen positions. Distortion and reversal of pictures. Supports and trolleys for apparatus. Control of light. Electricity supply and control. Voltage of supply.
IV.—THE PLANNING AND ADAPTATION OF BUILDINGS	46
Some architectural considerations. The special lecture theatre. Arrangement of a projection room for the hall. Requirements for safety.
V.—THE LOCAL ORGANISATION OF OPTICAL AIDS	59
Regional organisation. Projection material. Local courses for the instruction of teachers in the use of optical aids. Lecture demonstrations. Practical work to be done individually; silent projectors—static and cine. Sound projectors. The production of cine films in schools.
Appendices
I.—THE MAKING OF TRANSLUCENT SCREENS - - -	83
II.—A TILTING MIRROR FOR BACK PROJECTION - -	87
III.—THE ADAPTATION OF STANDARD LANTERN SLIDE PROJECTORS TO SUB-STANDARD PROJECTION - - - - -	87
IV.—FURTHER NOTES ON ELECTRICAL MATTERS -	91