

Contents

Notes on Contributors	viii
Acknowledgments	xii
Introduction: Nordic Cinema: Breaking New Waves since the Dawn of Film Mette Hjort and Ursula Lindqvist	1
Part I States of Cinema: Nordic Film Policy	13
Introduction Mette Hjort and Ursula Lindqvist	15
1 Regional and Global Dimensions of Danish Film Culture and Film Policy Ib Bondebjerg	19
2 Developing a Bhutanese Film Sector in the Intersection between Gross National Happiness and Danish Guidance Nis Grøn	41
3 Cinema in the Welfare State: Notes on Public Support, Regional Film Funds, and Swedish Film Policy Olof Hedling	60
4 “Education, Enlightenment, and General Propaganda”: Dansk Kulturfilm and Carl Th. Dreyer’s Short Films C. Claire Thomson	78
Part II Making Filmmakers: Models and Values	99
Introduction Mette Hjort and Ursula Lindqvist	101
5 How to Train a Director—Film Schools in the Nordic Countries Astrid Söderbergh Widding	105

6	Non-Fiction Film Culture in Sweden circa 1920–1960: Pragmatic Governance and Consensual Solidarity in a Welfare State Mats Jönsson	125
7	Crossing Borders: Going Transnational with “Danish” Film Training, Capacity Building, and Talent Development Mette Hjort	148
Part III Reeling ’Em In: Spectatorship and Cinephilia		173
	Introduction Ursula Lindqvist and Mette Hjort	175
8	The Rise and Fall of Norwegian Municipal Cinemas Ove Solum	179
9	The “Capital of Scandinavia?” Imaginary Cityscapes and the Art of Creating an Appetite for Nordic Cinematic Spaces Maaret Koskinen	199
10	Jörn Donner and the Emergence of a New Film Culture in Postwar Scandinavia Kimmo Laine	224
11	The Formation of a Cinema Audience in Sweden, 1915–1929 Tommy Gustafsson	242
Part IV Reinventing the Reel: Transitions and Triumphs		265
	Introduction Ursula Lindqvist and Mette Hjort	267
12	Searching for Art’s Promised Land: Nordic Silent Cinema and the Swedish Example Casper Tybjerg	271
13	Aki Kaurismäki—From Punk to Social Democracy Andrew Nestingen	291
14	Swedish Cinema of the 1940s, a New Wave Fredrik Gustafsson	313
15	Between Art and Genre: New Nordic Horror Cinema Gunnar Iversen	332
16	A Tradition of Torturing Women Linda Haverty Rugg	351

Part V Connecting Points: Global Intersections	371
Introduction	373
Mette Hjort and Ursula Lindqvist
17 Memories of Cultural Dismemberment: Nils Gaup, Mons Somby, and the Re-Membering of Sámi History	377
Wendy Gay Pearson
18 The Scandinavian Colonies of Silent-Era Hollywood	396
Arne Lunde
19 Films into Uniform: Dogme 95 and the Last New Wave	417
Scott MacKenzie
20 Nordic Remakes in Hollywood: Reconfiguring Originals and Copies	436
Anna Westerståhl Stenport
21 The Global Distribution of Swedish Silent Film	457
Laura Horak
Part VI The Eye of Industry: Practitioner's Agency	485
Introduction	487
Ursula Lindqvist and Mette Hjort
22 The Writing of Television Drama: Issues of Creative Collaboration and Authorship in Danish Writers' Rooms	491
Eva Novrup Redvall
23 Universal Aspirations and Ecocosmopolitan Rhetoric: The Finnish Ecodocumentary	510
Pietari Kääpä
24 The Emergence of a Tradition in Icelandic Cinema: From Children of Nature to Volcano	529
Björn Nordfjörd
25 The Art of Not Telling Stories in Nordic Fiction Films	547
Ursula Lindqvist
26 The Death of Porn? An Autopsy of "Scandinavian Sin" in the Twenty-first Century	566
Mariah Larsson
Appendix	589
Index	591