

CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Filmstrips and Visual Units . . . . . 5
2. The Practical Convenience of Filmstrip . . . . . 7

II. THE FILMSTRIP, FILMSLIDE, AND SHORT STRIP

1. The Safety Base . . . . . 8
2. Production Techniques . . . . . 8
3. Frame Size . . . . . 11
4. Miniature Slides . . . . . 12
5. The Unprotected Strip . . . . . 13
6. Control of Picture Sequence . . . . . 14
7. The Special Advantages of Miniature Transparencies . 14

III. MINIATURE PROJECTORS

1. Universal Lanterns . . . . . 16
2. Small-frame Lanterns . . . . . 16
3. Lanterns to take both Single- and Double-frame Strips 16
4. Lanterns for Miniature Slides only . . . . . 18
5. The Need for Speedy Control over Pictures . . . . . 19
6. Sprocket, Spool, and Claw Drive . . . . . 20
7. Where does the Beginner begin? . . . . . 20
  - Picture Brilliance . . . . . 21
  - Effect of Scratches and other Film Damage . . . . . 21
  - Naked-eye Visibility . . . . . 21
  - Personal Picture Production . . . . . 21
  - Protected Pictures . . . . . 21

IV. THE PRODUCTION OF FILMSTRIPS

1. Types of Filmstrips . . . . . 23
2. The Content is the Thing . . . . . 23
3. The Lantern-slide Substitute . . . . . 24
  - Questions of Copyright . . . . . 24
  - Uniformity of Picture Size . . . . . 24
  - Numbering of Frames . . . . . 25
  - Indexing, Titles, and Labels . . . . . 25

4	AN INTRODUCTION TO FILMSTRIPS
4.	Draft Filmstrips . . . . .	25
	Should the Filmstrip carry the Whole Infor- mation? . . . . .	26
	Standardization of Production Sheets . . . . .	26
	The Right Size of Text for Class Reading . . . . .	28
	Microfilm Notes not for Class Projection . . . . .	29
	The Selection and Arrangement of Content . . . . .	29
	Reasons for using Pictures . . . . .	29
	The Importance of Pupil Participation . . . . .	30
	Supplementary Text . . . . .	30
	Inter-leaved Notes . . . . .	30
	Mixed Picture and Text . . . . .	32
	Captions . . . . .	32
	Labels . . . . .	32
	Avoidance of Overcrowding and Elaboration of Detail . . . . .	32
5.	Published Filmstrips . . . . .	32
	The Publisher's Point of View . . . . .	32
	The Need for a High Standard of Production . . . . .	33
6.	Colour Filmstrips . . . . .	33

V. CONCLUSION

1.	The Future depends on Good Educational Standards	35
2.	The Teacher's First Move . . . . .	35
3.	The Need for Care in Projection . . . . .	36