

Table of Contents

Introduction	7
FUNDAMENTALS OF DRAMATIC COMMUNICATION	9
To Tell a Story	9
Liberal Applying Aristotle to the Seven Minute Screenplay	11
Why Aristotle / A Complete Action / Showing rather than Telling / Plotting a Structure / Dramatic Time and its Implications for Structure / Three Act Structure / Selectivity of Detail / Plot in Dialectic with Character / An Evolution in Drama / The Medium is the Message / Beauty in Balance / Drama embodies Change / The Importance of the Struggle / Simple Plot, Complex Characters / Conflict / The Examination of a Truth / Emotional Experience / Recapping the Fundamentals
Differences between the Short Form and the Feature Film.....	23
Tools of Cinematic Storytelling / The Use of Cinematic Time / The Nature of the Main Character / The Seven Minute Screenplay
GUIDELINES FOR THE SEVEN MINUTE SCREENPLAY	26
AN APPROACH TO THE SEVEN MINUTE SCREENPLAY	27
Rational and Irrational Ingredients / Rules for Classwork / The Individual's Search for Inspiration / What Makes You Angry? / Inspired vs. Readymade Themes / The Task at Hand
THE APPROACH OUTLINED	31
Character Exploration	32
Character Essays
Finding the Problem.....	33
Life Needs
Imagining the Struggle	34
Pitching.....	35
Specific Guidelines for the Pitch

The Treatment	37
Three Acts in Seven Minutes / Genre Considerations
Writing the First Draft	43
Standard Format Expectations / Master Shot Form / Present Tense / Breakdown of Action / Showing, not Telling / Writing Dialogue
Rewriting for Character.....	47
Characters Act rather than Tell / Character Plausibility / Empathy with the Character / Character Development: Want and Need / Adding Dimension to Character / Writing out Subtext / Character Checklist
Rewriting for Plot.....	54
Completing the Action / Maximizing the Conflict / Expression of Truth / Checklist for Plot
Subsequent Drafts	57
a. Developing an Iconography	58
Making Use of Visual Codes / Objects as Active / Creating a World for the Story
b. Reviewing for Audience Perception	60
Prolonging Audience Interest / Suspense / Dramatic Irony / Engaging Audience Imagination
Conclusion	64
Bibliography.....	65