

Introduction. Amateur Filmmaking: New Developments and Directions 1

Laura Rascaroli, Gwenda Young, Barry Monahan

PART ONE Reframing the Home Movie 13

1 The Home Movie and Space of Communication 15

Roger Odin

2 Home Movies and Amateur Film as National Cinema 27

Liz Czach

3 The Photographic Hangover: Reconsidering the Aesthetics of the Postwar 8mm Home Movie 39

Maija Howe

4 Amateur Film, Automobility and the Cinematic Aesthetics of Leisure 51

Mark Neumann

PART TWO Private Reels, Historiographical Concerns 65

5 Cinemas of Catastrophe and Continuity: Mapping Out Twentieth-Century Amateur Practices of Intentional History-Making in Northern England 67

Heather Norris Nicholson

- 6 Glimpses of a Hidden History: Exploring Irish Amateur Collections, 1930–70 81
Gwenda Young
- 7 Uncensored British Imperial Politics in Late Colonial Home Movies: Mem Sahibs, Indian Bearers and Chinese Communist Insurgents 95
Annamaria Motrescu-Mayes
- 8 The Amateur Film: From Artifact to Anecdote 109
Karen Lury
- 9 Starring Sally Peshlakai: Rewriting the Script for Tad Nichols's 1939 Navajo Rug Weaving 123
Janna Jones

PART THREE Nonfictional Recontextualizations 137

- 10 Change of Scale: Home Movies as Microhistory in Documentary Films 139
Efrén Cuevas
- 11 Creating Historiography: Alan Gilseman's Formal Reframing of Amateur Archival Footage in Home Movie Nights 153
Barry Monahan
- 12 "That would be wrong": Errol Morris and his Use of Home Movies (as Metalanguages) in Feature Documentaries 163
Stefano Odorico

PART FOUR Amateur Auteur 177

- 13 "I am a time archaeologist": Some Reflections on the Filmmaking Practice of Péter Forgács 179
Richard Kilborn

14 Representing the Past and the Meaning of Home in Péter Forgács's Private Hungary 193

Ruth Balint

15 Necessity Is the Mother of Invention, or Morder's Amateur Toolkit 207

Dominique Bluher

16 Joseph Morder, the "Filmmateur": An Interview with Joseph Morder 223

Dominique Bluher

17 Working at Home: Tarnation, Amateur Authorship, and Self-Inscription in the Digital Age 229

Laura Rascaroli

PART FIVE New Directions: The Digital Age 243

18 Saving Private Reels: Archival Practices and Digital Memories (Formerly Known as Home Movies) in the Digital Age 245

Susan Aasman

19 The Home Movie Archive Live 257

Patricia R. Zimmermann

20 An Inward Gaze at Home: Amateur First Person DV Documentary Filmmaking in Twenty-First Century China 271

Tianqi Yu

21 Shooting for Profit: The Monetary Logic of the YouTube Home Movie 289

Lauren S. Berliner

22 Home Movies in the Age of Web 2.0: The Case of “Star Wars
Kid” 301

Abigail Keating

23 Towards Mobile Filmmaking 2.0: Amateur Filmmaking as an Alternative Cultural Practice 315

Max Schleser

Works Cited 329

Audiovisual Sources 351

Index 359