

CONTENTS

	Page
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS - - - - -	viii
CONTENTS - - - - -	ix
LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS - - - - -	xi
FOREWORD by Erich von Stroheim - - - - -	xiii
INTRODUCTION - - - - -	I
CHAPTER 1. An Austrian Immigrant - - - - -	4
2. With Griffith in Hollywood - - - - -	8
3. "Blind Husbands" and "Foolish Wives" - - - - -	30
4. "Greed" - - - - -	45
5. From "The Merry Widow" to "Queen Kelly" - - - - -	57
6. Stroheim, Sex and Symbolism - - - - -	82
7. The Sound Film - - - - -	93
8. Europe: A New Career - - - - -	112
9. Back to Hollywood - - - - -	130
10. The Future? - - - - -	140
11. Index to the Creative Work of Stroheim, as Actor, Writer and Director 1914-1950 - - - - -	147
12. Bibliography - - - - -	171
APPENDIX 1. Stroheim the Craftsman by C. A. Lejeune - - - - -	187
2. Is Stroheim a Genius? by Paul Rotha - - - - -	191
3. Stroheim's Place in Film History by Herman G. Weinberg - - - - -	196
4. The Director of Directors by John Grierson - - - - -	202
5. "Von" as Actor by Thomas Quinn Curtiss - - - - -	204
6. The Influence of Stroheim by Lewis Jacobs - - - - -	207
7. Drama at the Crossroads by Oswell Blakeston - - - - -	216
8. "Foolish Wives" by James Agate - - - - -	220
9. "Greed" — A Personal Note by Rodney Ackland - - - - -	221
10. Stroheim and "Greed" by Robert Herring - - - - -	224
11. Stroheim and "La Grande Illusion" by Roger Manvell - - - - -	227
12. Stroheim and "Mademoiselle Docteur" by Ernest Betts - - - - -	229
13. The Modern Stroheim by Oswell Blakeston - - - - -	230
CONCLUSION - - - - -	233
INDEX - - - - -	237