

Contents

Preface .....	IX
I. Features of narrative in fiction
1. Narrativity and eventfulness.....	1
a) The classical and structuralist concepts of narrativity.....	1
b) Narration and description.....	5
c) Mediated and mimetic narrative texts.....	6
d) Events and eventfulness .....	8
e) Tellability .....	13
f) Eventfulness, interpretation, and context .....	13
g) Historicity of eventfulness.....	16
h) Temporal and non-temporal linking.....	18
2. Fictionality .....	21
a) Fiction and mimesis.....	21
b) The controversy about fictionality .....	23
c) Characteristic features of fictionality .....	25
d) Representation of other people's inner worlds .....	27
e) The fictive world .....	29
f) Author communication and narrative communication.....	32
II. The entities in a narrative work
1. Model of communication levels.....	34
2. The abstract author.....	36
a) Concrete and abstract entities .....	36
b) History of the abstract author concept .....	37
c) Critique of the abstract author concept .....	40
d) For and against the abstract author .....	42
e) Two attempts to split the abstract author .....	44
f) Sketch of a systematic definition.....	48
3. The abstract reader .....	51
a) The abstract reader as an attribute of the abstract author.....	51
b) History of the abstract reader concept .....	52
c) Definition of the abstract reader.....	54
d) Presumed addressee and ideal recipient.....	55
e) Critique of the ideal recipient concept.....	56

4. The fictive narrator.....	57
a) Explicit and implicit representation of the narrator .....	58
b) Individuality and anthropomorphism of the narrator.....	60
c) The narrator's markedness .....	61
d) Abstract author or narrator?.....	65
e) Typologies of the narrator.....	66
f) Primary, secondary, and tertiary narrators.....	67
g) Diegetic and non-diegetic narrators.....	68
h) Types of diegetic narrators .....	74
i) Narrating and narrated self.....	76
5. The fictive reader .....	78
a) Fictive addressee and fictive recipient .....	78
b) Fictive and abstract reader .....	80
c) Explicit and implicit representation of the fictive reader .....	81
d) Narration with a sidelong glance at the fictive reader ( A Raw Youth ) .....	84
e) Dialogic narrative monologue .....	87
III. Point of view
1. Theories of point of view, perspective, and focalization .....	89
a) F. K. Stanzel.....	90
b) G. Genette and M. Bal .....	91
c) B. A. Uspensky, J. Lintvelt, and Sh. Rimmon.....	95
2. A model of narrative point of view .....	99
a) The happenings as the object of point of view .....	99
b) Comprehension and representation.....	99
c) The parameters of point of view.....	100
d) Narratorial and figural point of view .....	105
e) Point of view in diegetic narrative ("The Shot").....	107
f) Narratorial and figural manifestations in the five parameters of point of view .....	109
g) Compact and diffuse points of view .....	116
h) On the methods of analysis: three central questions.....	117
IV. Narrator's text and characters' text
1. The two components of the narrative text .....	118
a) Narrator's discourse and characters' discourse.....	118
b) The characters' discourse in the narrative text .....	118
c) Narrator's discourse and narrator's text, characters' discourse and characters' text .....	120
2. Ornamental prose and skaz .....	122
a) Ornamental prose.....	122

b) The skaz : definitions .....	129
c) The skaz : history of research (B. Eikhenbaum, Yu. Tynyanov, V. Vinogradov, M. Bakhtin).....	130
d) Characterizing and ornamental skaz .....	132
e) Features of characterizing skaz .....	133
f) Ornamental skaz .....	135
3. The interference of narrator's text and characters' text.....	137
a) The structure of text interference .....	137
b) The opposition of the texts and their features.....	139
c) The pure texts and the neutralization of oppositions.....	143
d) Text interference as a transformation of the characters' text ..	145
e) Direct discourse and direct interior monologue .....	148
f) Quoted figural designation.....	152
g) Indirect representation of speech, thought, and perception .....	153
h) Autonomous indirect discourse.....	155
i) Free indirect discourse (FID): definition.....	156
j) FID in German, English, French, and Russian.....	158
k) Free indirect perception.....	162
l) Free indirect monologue .....	163
m) FID in diegetic narration.....	165
n) Figurally colored narration (FCN).....	166
o) Functions of text interference .....	168
p) Ambiguity and bi-textuality .....	170

V. Narrative constitution: happenings—story—narrative—presentation of the narrative

1. “Fabula” and “sujet” in Russian formalism .....	175
a) Models of narrative constitution.....	175
b) V. Shklovsky .....	176
c) M. Petrovsky .....	179
d) L. Vygotsky.....	181
e) B. Tomashevsky .....	184
2. The overcoming of formalist reductionism .....	186
a) “Histoire” and “discours” in French structuralism .....	186
b) Three-tier models.....	188
3. The four narrative tiers .....	190
a) The ideal genetic model.....	190
b) The location of point of view .....	194
c) From the happenings to the story .....	195
d) Selection and point of view .....	197
e) Compression and expansion.....	199
f) The non-selected .....	204

g) From the story to the narrative .....	205
h) The composition of the narrative and point of view .....	207
i) From the narrative to its presentation .....	208
j) An ideal genetic model of point of view .....	209
k) Discourse happenings and discourse story .....	211
l) The semiotic model .....	212
m) The correlation of the tiers in verbal art .....	214
Conclusion .....	216
Works cited .....	221
Glossary and index of narratological terms .....	243
Index of authors and narratives .....	251