

CONTENTS

1	The Way Movies Look: The Significance of Stylistic History	1
2	Defending and Defining the Seventh Art: The Standard Version of Stylistic History	12
	A Developing Repertoire: The Basic Story	13
	Film Culture and the Basic Story	21
	The Standard Version: Central Assumptions	27
	Coming to Terms with Sound	35
	Bardèche, Brasillach, and the Standard Version	38
3	Against the Seventh Art: André Bazin and the Dialectical Program	46
	A New Avant-Garde	47
	The Evolution of Film Language	61
	Toward an Impure Cinema	68
	From Stylistic History to Thematic Criticism	75
4	The Return of Modernism: Noël Burch and the Oppositional Program	83
	Radicalizing Form	84
	The Institutional Mode and Its Others	95
	Living Shadows and Distant Observers	102

5. Prospects for Progress: Recent Research Programs	116
Piecemeal History	118
Culture, Vision, and the Perpetually New	139
Problems and Solutions	149
6. Exceptionally Exact Perceptions: On Staging in Depth	158
Ideology and Depth	159
Making the Image Intelligible	163
Dumb Giants	175
Depth, Découpage, and Camera Movement	198
Redefining Mise en Scène	221
Expanding the Image and Compressing Depth	237
Eclecticism and Archaism	253
Notes	273
Index	315